paddy during kharif 2008-09 is estimated to be more than that during kharif 2007-08. However, the production of bajra, maize, tur and oilseeds during kharif 2008-09 is lower than their respective production during kharif 2007-08. Barley is a rabi crop and will be sown during the coming rabi season. While lower production of the above mentioned crops may lead to some rise in their prices depending on other factors like international prices and import/export of these commodities, food safety is not likely to be affected adversely.

(c) and (d) It is envisaged to bring additional area under different crops during rabi 2008-09 which would compensate for the loss in production during kharif 2008-09. Government has also taken several steps to bridge the gap between demand and supply of essential commodities and contain inflation which include reducing import duties to zero for rice, wheat, pulses, edible oils (crude), maize, butter and ghee; banning export of non-bastmati rice, wheat, some edible oils and pulses (except kabuli channa); imposition of stock limit orders in case of rice, wheat, pulses, edible oils and oilseeds; delisting all contracts of tur and urad in forward markets; banning future contracts in wheat and rice; suspending futures trading in soya oil, potato, chana and rubber upto 30.11.2008 and authorizing NAFED to import 1.5 million tonnes of pulses during 2008-09; among other.
